

THE MEETING OF THE FIRST WHITE AND RED MAN

The first white man saw the first Indians standing with two dogs by their sides on a hill. The man known as Pilgrim came aboard the ship and speak with the Indians, saying "we are looking for a place to live." The two Indians came down the hill and they talk, one white man said "we are looking for a place to live," the Indian shook his head "no" but the white man said "just enough to live on". One enough said, what he wants is just enough size of a cow hide. The other Indian laughed and said "what's he want enough size of a cow hide?" Both Indians laughed. One said to let us give him size of cow hide, and they gave it him. White man said, now we are friends and the Indians we are brothers under the blue skies. And the Indians turned around and went back.

That day, they had a big cow and they killed the cow and skinned it. With the cow hide they put in it the tub of water and soaked wet and they began to cut the cow hide thin as a twine. Day after day and kept it in water days later he began to measure his land by the size of the cow hide. The two Indians came back and the Wagon Trains were coming and they meet them. Where are you going? The white man said I'm measuring my land. The Indian said "it is suppose to be the size of a cow hide. Behind the wagon, I have the cow hide. I'm measuring my land. They walked around the wagon and saw the cow hide tied to the tree by the ocean. One Indian said, "it is true, it is cow hide". And he got back on wagon and come across over the United States. They were many Indians living over the United States. They were many Indians living some were wild. One day they tried to talked to the Indians and they were wild and they ran away. So they decided to make a friend. One man said "let us make some whiskey and catch them Indians." One said "good idea", and they make Whiskey. There was an "Indian Trails" they found which they go on Happy Hunting grounds. The Indians were going hunting. One day they saw wagon on the trail. They were afraid day they saw Wagon on the trail. They were afraid so they
