

dollars. I was, well that's when I first went to work in an oil field. I think that was in '17, I believe. I think that was when I went to work there in oil field. And I was there two or three years. Old man Seal, he was superintendent then, at that time. So, I left there and I went to Wynona, that boom up there in Wynona.

(Did, you have back in, you know, when you were a little younger, back there, all those younger Indian kids, did it seem like to you that their parents wanted them to go to school? You know some times, some of the kids didn't want to go you know.)

Oh, yeah. Well, like this, Leonard, see a lot of them went to that boarding school at Pawhuska then. Because, a lot of them sent them up there to this boarding school, well they just stayed there, see. The whole week then they'd come home on weekend, you know. Maybe, maybe they come home every weekend, maybe though they miss a week or two, like that. But they was free to go on the weekend if they wanted to come back home you know and like that. But Jim and Roy they went here. They went Macbay. I mean, not in that school, Jim and Roy and all them, was in the camp there. They went over there, down the valley, just across the creek. But now there was lot of them that went to this boarding school up there at Pawhuska. I know all them Riddle boys they went. Old Jack Riddle, all of them, Sherman, Lewis, Frank, Joe.

(They lived up north of camp, didn't they?)

Yeah. You know where the old Riddle place is, up there. Well, you know where Dave Pitt's place is? Just across the creek there.

(East of there.)

Yeah. That's old Riddle Ranch in there. And old Jack Riddle, well, all them boys were on the roll and all them were allotted in there, you know.

(Yeah.)

See, all in that valley. They call it the old river flat. Had all that land in there. Them boys. And their mother I don't know where she was, where her allotment was but, I guess, in there close. But I know, old Jack Riddle at one time he had all that, you see. Run Cattle in there.
