

years, and you don't see that too often anymore.)

But we used to though when we were sort of young.

(Fussed a little bit. I guess so.)

Hookey, now, you know. I guess he was just sick, you know, that day we was eating dinner. He said something hurt bad, you know--I forgot what was it. Anyhow, I said, "If you don't like it, you can get out and leave" or told me that. I said, "Hookey, how come your family thinks like that?" I said, "I do all I can." You know, I said, "What do you want? You want me sleep here again--sleep with you like it used to be?" He said, "Heck no, I don't fight you touched me," something like that. (Laughter) (Sentence not clear).

Unidentified voice: We never do fuss anymore either. We used to fight like cats and dogs.

Unidentified voice: (Not clear.)

Unidentified voice: (not clear), yeah, he shook hands, but you --

(Yeah, his brothers --)

Paul, he had a stroke

Unidentified voice: He did?

Yeah, twice cause you can't (not clear) at all. Well, one more time, and he'll be gone then? They say that they have three. And Hookey had a stroke, light stroke, anyway about two weeks ago.

Unidentified voice: He did?

Yeah.

GARDENING AND CANNING FOODS

(Humm-humm, little one, Dolly, how did you all used to, when you gardened, what all did you grow in the garden?)

Oh, you just grow anything what you could stick in the ground from corn
