

Only but one, that's Ramona. That's Cyrus mother, you know, one lives at Peggs. She's only one ever--I eve gave her music lessons.

(And the rest of them just picked it up.)

Picked it up, and you can't beat them boys. I'm bragging on them. (laughter)

(What do they play?)

They play just anything what you can imagine.

(Guitar, banjo.)

Guitar, banjo, mandolin. (Laughter)

Unidentified voice: Ain't that good?

(Do they play for dances or church or anything like that?)

They used to have loud speakers, you know. Even, Mandoline was going to play. Steve plays guitar.

(Oh, well, good.)

RAISING MONEY TO BUY FENCE FOR GRAVEYARD

Some day, some--I wish she could--oh, I didn't know what time would be home two--three days when they--I'm gonna have a--they may not-- I guess I'm getting too practical again. I'm gonna have a, try to come here and help me with the graveyard there, you know. Buy me some fence post, steel post, and steel gate. (Interruption) Have a graveyard (not clear) his folks buried out there (not clear) .

(And you want to fence it in and --)

Yeah, it's fenced in but it's not no good. And, so, yesterday, I asked these Indians workers, you know, these here Indians things (not clear).

Unidentified voice: Yeah.

But got them hogs, you know.

(Oh, they raise hogs down here?)

Mmm-hmmm, they raise hogs, and, so, I told them, "Now, listen, Dan," and (not clear). I said, "Listen, I want y'all to hit me." And they
