

that they say about you, you got to go on and hold your head up and be a gentleman all the way." And that what is my intention is. I hope I never have to stoop to argue with these people.

(Like you say, there are others feeling that anyone representing the people has got to be congenial in every way regardless of their personal feelings and that is how to say, you don't like a certain person, you got to represent them.)

Yes, you got to represent him, and respect is another thing. If you want to be respected, you have to respect. You just can't go out and have everybody throwing out the red carpet because it is a position. In my opinion, if you represent the people like they should be, well, that all counts, and they will respect you.

(Now, I have got a question about the claim (words not clear) I was, we didn't go along with the majority of votes that were cast on this claim. Of course, --understand people's feelings with (sentence not clear) claim, you know, and we understand it. We felt that the ball game wasn't over. We were still in the game. We would come out better in the end if we had (not clear).)

Well, Leonard, in my opinion, on that is, that I talked to a good many people not only half breed but the full blood people throughout the entire county. Nearly everyone that I talked to outside of one person wanted to go ahead settle at the $13,200,000. I fully realize that wasn't the big enough price for it, but this thing's been going on since the 1809, I believe, and it has been in the courts for almost 20 years. This solicitor up there is Mr. Ralph Barnie. And when we went up they led the council to believe that they were willing to make
