

something together in my paintings. I didn't know the difference, but I found that I could paint a lot of things that I knew about, about the Creeks, and everyday life and things that have happened to me or things I have heard about. (I thank you for talking. I hope that they will listen real good to this. I think that was good.)

(End of Side B)