

Well, I don't follow you clearly, but if you're referring to ways or the tradition or ceremonies, is that what..?

(No, I was just talking about the use of, medical standpoint, you know, like do they still have older people that perform healing by the old Indian ways?)
Yeah.

(When was the last time they practiced?)

Mmmm-hmmm, well, we don't have them like that nowadays, you know, but as far as I can tell about 1900's. I believe that is the last that I know of; the people like that. You don't, then days, you don't hardly ever go to a town doctor. That means, white doctors, you know. We go to certain ones, you know, that we know. Just like a stomach ailment. Sometimes, they call it, I don't know, anyway, it has stomach cramp, in the stomach, or something, ailment, you know. You have people there that knows how to doctor, that is healing way. They have a, I don't know what it is. I've seen them, but I don't even know what it is, Muskrat or, anyway, it's a fur skin. They have it in this one way of doctoring that I've seen. See, you got a stomach ailment or something like that bothers you, well, they take their fingers, you know, and test. They give them, there are, they have the power or the cure. They have a knowing on, what's what. And just like cramps, you know, a lot of people have that. I don't know. Maybe since, unexpected death or sudden death. I don't know. People have them, and I don't know, they just die. That's all. And they go and feel in there and they find the something in there that caused that. It goes up, up there, and then affects the heart and some way stops it, see. Now, that's about, might be one form of heart failure, see? And man knows how to go about when it's failures. When he finds it, well, he puts his fingers and hands on it. He will, happen that these men had a powerful hands, powerful fingers. They're not ordinary just like ours, see? They're gifted, you understand; see, the power. And the
