

fastest horse pertaining to the star that is in the heavens. That this tribe of people had got into this race. There were sort of something like a god that had the fastest horses. And that was something that was fantastic. And that was how this tribe, how this young man that had come into this tribe that disguised himself as this Swift Hawk that had saved this tribe from this other tribe of people that he was talking about.

And he says, some of these stories are short. This is another story that goes. About a man by the name of Taloda(?). It was pertaining to this medicine man that gets this...they kind of go out of their head and they kill. And this story goes about this man who had two wives Taloda and these young men would come around and flirt with this... with his two wives. The next morning they were found chewed up. And these people didn't that he had a bag of worms. But the next morning they would find these boys all chewed up-----Now this Taloda had brothers and he killed his brothers like that. And these people didn't know what to do. So this one brother had brothers killed by this Taloda because they were flirting with his wife. So he was crying one day. And he came to this mountain and in this mountain somebody talked to him. And said, "Son, why are you crying? What is your trouble? Come to me and tell me." So he approached this. And it said, "Come here." And he went over there. And he said, "That is why my heart is broken and that is why I'm crying." And he said, "Oh, that is one man I don't like." He said, "I hate him. On this land we are the goda here." And he said, "He is one man that I don't like." And he said, "Dry your eyes and don't cry. Here, here take this. Here is something that I want to give you."
