

She's got a husband. He's a Pueblo. I don't know his name. And she's got two kids--a boy and a girl. I don't know their names.

(What about Jesse?)

Jesse has got a wife but no kids. He married a girl from Wyoming. I don't know her name.

(O.K. Now, Jessie Birdshead--would you count her as one of your relations?)

Yeah.

(Does she have any kids--Jessie Birdshead--the daughter of Tillie and Dick?)

That's a boy! (Should be Jesse instead of Jessie) He's got ten kids.

Rosie.. Rosie Birdshead. You know her--Amanda's sister.

(Do you know how many boys and girls?)

They just got three girls and seven boys.

(Do any of them have children?)

Yeah, they're all growing. I think the oldest one is Joe. The second one is Clifford. And the third one is Ralph. And then they got Tommy Rose--a girl.

And then Lawrence. Let's see--Clifford, Joe, Ralph, Tommy Rose, Lawrence--La-

Verne, and Sterling--a boy. And Charles. And then Frances--a girl. And then this girl--what's her name, this baby? Mary something. Ten--ten kids. Oh, my, you sure got me! I thought I was just going to answer a few! (laughs) You just lead me into all that! You trap me! Clifford is got two kids--a girl and a boy. Me no savvy their names!

(His wife, is she Arapaho?)

She's a Kiowa. I don't know her name.

(Then what about Charles--does he have any?)

No.

(And Sterling--does he have any?)

No.

(Does Joe?)
