

returning from an expedition had a chase and kill many buffaloes and butchered and only took most of the choice meat and left the rest for the coyotes and wolves. And tired, they camp near by that night. The wolves come, also the Wolf Boy. The wolves are roaring or calling others to the big feast. Some of the listening warriors thought they heard some one say, "Here's a good one." It was the Wolf Boy talking to his adopted wolf father. Soon they heard the noise of someone beating or breaking a leg bone to get the marrow tallow out of the bone. They went near enough to see who it was striking on horns to break the shin bone--a man among wolves. As they went closer the animals fled and the young man also fled with the wolves. They told the story to all.
 Someone said, "It might be the lost hunter whose wife came and reported he never returned. Let's put a trap for him. Go and kill some more buffalo and let the wolves come, and if he comes, all get ropes and lasso him. Catch him and find out who he is." They kill the buffaloes and open up the carcass and left them. They all got ropes ready. Sure enough the wolves came and also the young man also came with them. They all run to him and he ran with the wolves but was lassoed. He was very wild and vicious and he fought--bite--broke the ropes. The second time the whole camp prepare especially to catch him alive.
 No doubt he was the lost young man. After all men made ready with ropes of rawhide of the buffaloes--they kill buffaloes near camp. That night they heard the wolves roaring and barking. Spies sent out returned and said the man was among the wolves. They almost surrounded the place. The young man was caught and tied down. He was a wolf--vicious. They kept him till daylight and talk with him to come back, and how it happen that you are living with the wolves. He told the whole story--how his wife dug a pit and he fell in and was left for dead and was rescued by the wolves and adopted. "Now I have live so long with them I cannot leave my adopted father. I'll ask him if he let me go.
 I already know the language. I'll call them in tonight and ask them. If you will let me go a while, I'll come back and let you know on what ground he
