I don't know. I couldn't say.

Anadarko?)

(Why does Sequoyah Mills engloy so many Indians?)

I think the government has contributed some furds to them, try to encourage it, I guess. So that the Indians has little chance.

(Is the same true with the peanut factory?)

well, I tell you, I think it's all up to the Indian. In some cases, why get up there and ask for it. I t ink it's all up to the Indian. I t ink , he's been kind of feeling that he's inferior to the ne: t man. out well you take my son. He went over there and he asked the manager that he wanted a job. He got him a job. Well that is his belief. de-say that it's all up to you. He says, Iremember fr m when I was in the Nevy. If you see it's there you ask for it. You not going to.. they not going to say here you got a job. You got to ask for it. Ferhaps there could be more people working if they had the initiati e, I guess or they gidn't the backwardness.. they get out there. There was a job over here open a jamitor's job..at the ost Office. That's been about 3 or 4 years ago. I told my cousin about it. ie's a veter n of world War II. That job is a reference job. Veteran's reference, so I told him that job coing to be open there. He didn't say enything well, I'll consider it. He never id stop by and someone else ot it. ; (Why do you think so many of the younger Indians lack this initiative you're talking about?)

Oh, I guess they just feel that the didn't have no change. Or something like that. Or anyway, maybe something they just disning somewhere, but anway it's been that a way I thought.

(Do you think there is a lot of prejudice gainst Indians in jobs here in

I don't know..could e. I had a trient..ng's dear now..usad to e a bus ness man. Oh, he would tell me about certain jobs, you know. We said, if you were living here i town you would have a better chance toget that job. But out
