

they have had any effect on our people. No, not the Wichitas, Caddoes. Oh, maybe one or two, but that's all.

(Do you know what kinds of programs they have?)

No, I've never attended any of their meetings. I've been invited. There's a Caddo business committee man. He belongs to that organization. He's invited me, but I ain't never gone.

(Do the Wichita have somebody on that, too?)

No.

(Have you had any Vista volunteers working around here?)

No. One thing the Bureau has improved in it's program is that they have a land appraisals. A man who studies, who have ;studied. They get out here and appraise it. We had some white people, oh nice people..too much, too much.

(Do you think they do a pretty fair job on their appraisals?)

I think they do. It's just the white people that..maybe the leasee..well, maybe he'll gripe because..well, one guy, he had a nice home on the place, built a home, and tractors and farming equipemnt, trucks and cars, modern conveniences in the home, applicamces and so forth. This appraiser, he said, I'm going ask you where did you get all these? You say now that you don't make no money. How in the world can you tell me that. You have this lease, it's the only lease that you have. Where did you get all this modern farming equipment, cars where did you get that? The man said, well I'll take it (meaning that the white man would accept the lease at the appraised figure.) White man against the white man well, he knows when to say yes or no. That's one of the gains that have been for the Indian. He's been paid good money for his land for his rental.

(What is the average rate for a quarter section of good agricultural land around here?)

Well, I tell you. There's a place out there. We have a place, it's in Carnegie.. I'd say about six miles northeast. There's a place this way, about a mile and a half from it. It's a pretty fair agriculture land. But it has good peanut base on it. And about three, two months ago, that place sod for $82,500.
