

Look at all my junk, I have to tie it up. (She is looking for bead-work by the woman that does beautiful work. She has several bundles wrapped in clothes. The reason she explains is so she can tell easier if anyone has been into her things.) Little girls always say, "Grandma, you have to buy you a suitcase." I have all my stuff tied up in a bundle. I was going to make little bitty ones see. (shows me soles for baby's moccasins.) Never have, see this for big ones.

(Did they wear those medallion necklaces a long time ago?)

I don't know where they came from. This is what we get at the city.

(shows pieces of leather.) They got a leather store at the city.

over here in Oklahoma City, Tandy. It sure cup up. I'm going to take it back off and bead it different way. See how it cup up? I tired to work it some way but I don't think it'll look nice. Put different work on it. I got everything tied up. Say, "Grandma why don't you buy a suitcase." I'm just use to it that way. Tying things up. I know where to find it. They all like this white.

(buckskin.) I don't see why they like that white, it get's so dirty quick. But I ain't never been able to find anything that easy to bead at that Tandy.

WITH THE CIRCUSE

(Where did you get your tatoos?)

Oh, I went off..me and my husband went with the circus. Christy Brother Circus. That's where we got on our tatoo. When we were young. 1926.
