

played. A Forty-Nine.)

(What kind was that?)

It's "A girl, I wonder why she hate me. She loved me last summer." That's a Forty-Nine.

(Would you say the Arapaho words?)

(Myrtle repeats Arapaho words slowly.)

(Is that a boy talking?)

That's a boy talking to a girl. He wanted to know why she hate him. She loved him last summer.

(Another song, Number 16, played. A Love Song, or Forty-Nine. Cheyenne words.)

(What kind of a song was that?)

That's a Love Song. Now this girl, she said, "My friend, I love my boy friend. I love him. I'm going to marry him." That's what it said. She's talking to her girl friend. "My friend, I really love my boy friend--" That's was it says in the first of it. "I'm going to marry him."

(Could you say the Cheyenne words real slow?)

(Myrtle repeats Cheyenne words slowly.)

(You said it's a love song--could you also call it a Forty-Nine, too?)

Yeah, yeah. Something like that. They always dance that way.

(Have you known that one a long time?)

Yeah.

(The identification of songs from T-665 continues on T-666.)
