

looks sideways at him. That horse knows that he's gonna get away with him. And then finally this White Man, he said to him, "Hey, I'd like to try your horse out. Oh, you got pretty horse, and you got good saddle and you got good bridle," he said. "Everything's good," he said. And he said, "Yeah. Yeah. I made all of them," he said. And then this Coyote man said, "Well, I want to try him out a little ways--way over there," he said. "Could I try him out?" And this man said, "Yeah." And he got off. He got off at the ground. He was holding that horse. He's kind of afraid of this Coyote. And then same time he wants him to try that horse out. Well, this Coyote man went up to the horse. When he try to get on the horse--I don't know what he done on the side--I guess he pinch him like that. And this horse said, "Whhhhhh!" like that (imitating how a horse snorts). And then he jumped the other way and he said, "Oh, he's afraid of me! I ain't got no coat," he said. Well, this White Man took off his coat. He put it on him and button it up for him. And then he went up to this horse again, and then he done something to the horse. That horse is gentle, you know. But he done something to it--pinch him like that or kick him or something--and this horse just say, "Whhhhhhh!" "Hey, he's afraid of me! I ain't got no hat," he said. Well, this White Man took his hat and put it on his head. "Oh, it's good. I look nice?" he said. "Yeah." And then he walk up to the horse. And I don't know what he does around that horse. It always say, "Whhhhhhh!" It afraid of him and jump. He sticks him with something so he could jump thataway. He's getting all his clothes. This White Man don't know. And then finally he said, "I ain't got no shoes--boots!" he said. Well, this White Man took his boots off again. And then he put it on. I don't know how pretty he is. But he put it on there and then he walk up to the horse again. This White Man was holding that horse. Right here, at the mouth. He kinda hold it for him. "Here! Here! He's not afraid!" he said, "He's gentle!" he said. And this Coyote Man tried to get on there and then he done something again, and this horse says, "Whhhhhh!" He went like that and jumped the other way. "Hey, I ain't got no pants on!" he