

"shimmy") those cans with. So she said, "Well, I'm just lonesome up here. I believe I'll go down. I gonna go down and visit them people. He won't know it." She put her rope down. And before she did that-anyway, they already had a child before that happened. By them time that she had finished that rope they done had a child. So she tied that little boy to her waist. And then she got that rope and she come down. ~~She~~ visit them people. And those people told her, "Hey where do you come from?" She said, "Well, I've been in two worlds now, and this is the second one," she said. "I want to go back. I'm going back to my own folks." They said, "How are you gonna get back down?" She said, "Well, I've made a long rope and I'm gonna throw it down and go down." So she did. She went to that same place where she came up from. And she went down, with that baby tied to her. They got so far and somebody spoke to her. They said, "Hey, you're not gonna make it down. I'm gonna kill you. I'm gonna kill you before you get to the bottom. I'm gonna save the boy, but you, I'm gonna kill you!" So that thing, broke and they hit the ground, and sure enough that woman died, but that little boy was left. So he nursed his mother every day, you know. So this Old Spider, she has a camp of her own you know. And I don't know-I guess she was going along somewhere, and she seen this little boy and she said, "Ah, that little boy is cute!" And that little boy would go play and he would always go back to his dead mother, you know, and nurse. So one day that spider said, "I'm gonna a trap. That little boy is cute. I want him." She fixed- made a web and then made a ball. She tied it at the end of one of her webs. She said, "Well, I'm gonna throw this ball down, and when he grabs it, I'm gonna pick him up." So when he did that, you know, and he was playing bow and arrows and he shoot at that ball. Pretty soon he got to the place where he grabbed at that ball.
