

I think that's the way it's been going, you know, among -- among my tribe, you know.

(Yeah, yeah.)

I told them, "It ain't no good," you know. "It ain't no good." But you can't keep them away from it.

(Yeah.)

I don't know. I don't know too much about peyote but just what -- you know, my experience what I saw, you know. I don't know. My grandmother told me. She says, "That thing's good." She says it's good, but I don't know what you, how far you go.

(Yeah.)

That's another thing. You got to keep up.

(Yeah.)

Oh, I had little experience, but I couldn't -- I didn't say I quit it. That herb's got power.

(Yeah.)

It got power, you know. If you, you, a lot of times, you know, well, lot of times, I took pretty nervous.

(Yeah.)

I don't know. I guess that thing goes in your system all over. I was down here at the Indian hospital. I had some here in my bag, you know. Boy, that one night, it came, you know, they never, something, you know, I think they was trying to kill me from that, you know -- I don't know what they was giving, probably morphine.

(Yeah, yeah.)

That's come here and tell the truth. I can't give it to you, but I told him, "I -- my leg's hurting."
