

to do because you're my own daughter, but I have to have these little things for the one that helps me doctor." So I said, "Yeah, I give you that." So he smoke my foot and put a handkerchief on top. I wanted him to hurry because I couldn't hardly breathe good. I said, "Hurry, Dad. My breath is short." So he put a handkerchief on top and said, "Don't worry. You'll be all right." Just like he said, like he was scraping something together like that (scraping skin toward the bite.) Like it was hurting right down here like that, like that. And on top of that handkerchief, not too hard. Just like that, easy like that. And then this handkerchief. After he pull that black handkerchief away like that, you see, believe it or not that spider web all came out from my foot. Maybe that's their poison. spider web just came out. All of it. No wonder he was doing like this. He went like that. Daddy put it down and he opened it and all spider webs in there. Some kind of a black thing. He got in there and shake his handkerchief into the fire coals. And then he doctor it. Just kind of fix me up with his hand. Like that and smoke it, you know. And it's all gone now. Sure enough, I went (sighs heavily). He said, "Breathe hard now. Relax and breathe hard." I went (takes deep breath) with my breath and I was all right. I got all right that quick. And they ask us if we wanted to spend the night there and I said, "No, we left the kids down home and I guess we drive back, and we'll get there towards morning," I said. So we came on the next morning, I was just well.

(You know when he smoked your foot, how did he do that?)

Well, he take buffalo tail--he use it. He put it in the smoke and the cedar smoke is coming out. He do like that and kinda working
