

it a name." "Go ahead", Just give them a name, and when they give them a name his mother has to give presents to that man or that woman that give it the name. Give them some kind of presents..blanket or quilt or dishes or anything like that or money.

(Can this be any person?)

Just anybody that give that child a name. They have to Give-Away for it. They glad they give them a name because they don't know what to name them. This man or woman come to visit or anybody and they give them a name. They give them presents for that.

(Was there any special celebration when a child got his first teeth or...)

No. Nothing. They don't know nothing. They don't even have no birthdays. They don't even know what day or month their child was born. Just know they were born, that's all.

(Were there any differences in raising a boy and a girl?)

No. The same. Two living and one of them died and I just got the oldest one living. He lives in Lawton. He's married and got kids. And then I got married after I divorced my first husband. He chasing round other woman and finally I divorced him. About two years after that I married this other man. I had five by him, and then I lost three and I just got two living...two boys and one daughter. That's the mother of this little boy here.. Married to a colored man.

(Really.)

You can tell he's a colored. He don't look it but he is. His dad is a colored man.

(They live in Whicita?)
