

Yeah. Leona.

(Leona. Did they have another sister, Nancy? Was Nancy his sister?)

Nancy was his sister. And he had another half sister. That was at--
I heard that she passed away.)

(Nancy: You do. I think Susan went to her funeral. She said she heard that--was some kin to her and never did see her until at the funeral.)

That's what she told me. She's old you know.

(Nancy: And her boy, Other, I seen him at the funeral up here. You know Fanny Holmer, you know, use to be Fanny Holler, this girl.

Winie was telling me.)

See that's Winnie's half-sister. So she, when I was in the hospital she was down there and one of her girls was down there so she came down and sat around and in her room and I was talking to her. So the fourth month she passed away. So that's when I went to her funeral.

You know, and I seen Other there. Other Winie I think that's his name.

That's Louisa said his name was--.

(Do you have an Indian church around here?)

(Cumberland Presbyterian --name?)

Doublespring.

(Doublespring, now that's not the one that we saw that you said was White church?)

(Unintelligible)

(Harmany) Baptist Church. That's the White Church. Is there a grave yard up there at this one.)

Yeah.

(Do these little Choctaw churches do they have their own grave yards
