

where the clothes are and we get them ourselves.

(Yeah, go get your own clothes and came back from the laundry and they be there.)

All in there ready.

(Well, did the boys farm any or made a garden?)

Yeah, they had cows to milk and I guess they did have a garden cause we had vegetables, but I didn't pay attention to what they was doing.

Our building was further off, just across the road you know, a little way. Then they had a little hospital there just a building, you know, not like they have now. Anybody get sick we put them over there.

(Was there a doctor?)

Yeah, a doctor, he came from town and bring them over there. They use to come over there--they use to come and see the sick people, but now they won't go.

(Doctor won't go?)

No, one goes.

(You mean the town of Atoka was there then?)

Yeah.

(Some of it I guess.)

It was there.

(I bet the depot?)

Yeah the depot, ole depot it's still there.

(Did you ever ride on a train?)

Yeah, I did. I went to McAlester and came back. I think it was the greatest thing I done. I went to Kansas City one time with my Aunt Mary. She was awful sick, you know, and Bill Dandridge was there.

You know Bill Dandridge?
