

Well, he watch the peoples. If anybody do anything wrong, he catch them and put them in jail. He's a--I don't know how they call it-- He's got a blue suit and a red striped--how you call that?

(A red stripe down his pants leg?)

Yeah--what is that name? I can't tell it.

(Uniform?)

Yeah. We live by the Agency.

(When you lived by the Agency, were you living in a house?)

In a house.

(Did he wear any kind of badge?)

We got beds, too. (misunderstanding the above question)

(No, I mean, did he have a badge? On his uniform? Like a star?)

I don't know--I never did see-- (apparently does not understand this question)

(Well, why did he become an Indian police? Do you know why?)

Sometimes I can't understand--

(Mrs. McDaniels: Talks to her mother in Kiowa.)

. . .I just can't remember. . .(speaks Kiowa)

(Mrs. McDaniels: How many years?)

I don't know. I don't know what year he's on police--(speaks Kiowa)--him and Bosin and Blue Jay and-- Lots of Kiowas they in that police. My daddy, he's a chief. That's all I know. I don't remember anything like we do now. I don't know-- I went to school. That's all I know.

(These policemen, do you remember any times when they--)

No, I don't know. I don't know. All I know, I just know they live in a house. And my mama said he's policeman. That's all I know (She is tired of
