

half Apache. Jewell's about one-eighth, I guess or one-sixteenth or one-fourth.

(Who's son is Jewell?)

That's Buckley's. He's married to Susie--Susie Jay. Susie Hay had some--I don't know how but she's kinda Lipan, or western. Stuarts about half. He's half Mescalero. His mother was Mescalero. His father was Kiowa-Apache.

K-A MARRIED TO MESCALERO:

(What was his mother's name?)

We just call her Mescalero old lady-- ^ˈdada' ^ˈiszana -- ^ˈdadahi ^ˈisjana

She had a name--I can't recall it. There are so many things I want to brush up on. ^ˈiszana --that's old lady.

(Where did she come from?)

Mescalero. And that's another thing, too, I want to find out. Maybe Stuart could tell me. You know at one time they was captured over there--Geronimo. Maybe he married her while they was down here--or maybe he went over there and married her. I don't know. See, Stuart's right at 75. And these Fort Sill Apaches, I think, according to what I heard on the record--they left here about 1914. Or 1912. Therefore, old man Sinkole might have married her while she was down here. But then, Stuart, went to school over here at the Mission--

(Cache Creek?)

Yeah. It just puzzles me now. I cause I was just six years old when I went to school, and he quit just two years before I did. Two or three years before I did. Therefore that's something I want to find out.

MORE ABOUT DAYOGAL, SADDLEBLANKET AND DAVECO:

(Let's go back to this dayoga again. Trying to find out a little more