

around, just like lighting. I seen the dust just like this all over. Just all I see. He fly around. The other fellows same way. And finally these, these scouts, they - they go after the Indian scout, they run him back out of that mountain. So he says, "Now everybody get out of this mountain, go get on this other mountain." So everybody run off - run out and these men - fighting out there. The three men they come back. So we going out this way, and when I was running, lots of people running. They were running right there. One old lady, - one old lady got shot right in the ankle there, just broke the foot just like this. Couldn't walk. Just hang. So just stand there and cry. And another girl running by me, she got shot right in the hand. She fall down, but she got up and her hand was like this, and blood was all over. So this old lady sitting there - wants us - wants - she need help. But nobody - everybody just pass them by. Cause she couldn't do nothing she couldn't walk. Because - besides she's old. So that - later on, these men come in there with the horses, bring the horses, wild horses, they rope wild horses - put - saddle them up - put that old lady - they put on that old lady and tie her to saddle. And then they turn them loose with them wild horses. Just - just little ways, few steps the horse commence to buck but there it is - she fall down. They're right there - never - nobody - never bother her. Just leave her - let her stay - lay there. Then they all go on up. Then they all go to the mountain there, get together again - and then the same night, they started off - march south. They kept going for about 2 days. Then this - they stop for a little while. The wind come from south. They said about four miles from here, was good spring water. But always the Mexican Army camped over there, they camped over there. I guess they wait, they looking for us over there. So some of us want to go different - go around it, - why you can do it. That's what they say. But most of them they want to go right through anyway. So this Mangus, a few of us took us to
