

We killed them, we killed them and with them we got something to eat then. About 8 or 9 of them, that's a good meal for us. Because that's the best we can do. We can't kill nothing. No deer no nothing. That's all we do. We always looking for somebody to help us, because those were hard times. We can't get nothing to eat. Another thing we can't sleep. You can't sleep at night. You've got to watch, got to watch all the time. Then you hungry, then you get tired of walking all day long. All these Indians walking hard to us. Then you can't sleep anytime you want to. You got to watch day and night. That's what they call them. That Geronimo's hiding place in there somewhere. See all the fighting he done. No wonder they call him the famous warrior. I seen what he do. He kill the people. He kill the people, but then he don't care, woman, or white woman, or Mexican woman, he kill everybody it don't make no difference. Even baby. When the war started, he given his men order, he said, "Don't save any of them. Don't save even a baby. Just killed them all." Well, whatever he said goes. Everything what he says. When they fighting these Yaqui Indians, I seen it, these Yaqui Indians just like our tribe. Just like Indians. They real Indians, they fight with them, I seen that. They use these what they call a sling shot, they use it on us. But most of them use a gun because they are scout for Mexican and way up in southwestern Old Mexico and they fighting with these Mexicans, and they fighting with these white soldiers. But white soldiers they don't fight much. They don't really know how to fight. But Mexicans they little better then these white soldiers. Indians I know are way ahead. You can even just this one to fight against this hundred man or 50 men. I seen that done, with my own eye. Nobody tell me, I seen it. That's why I say that Geronimo is what they call him a famous warrior. I believe that. Then they go around and the man, these men when they get to fight to the camp, well the camp they a lot of these gold mine camps. There's nothing but tents. No houses. The peoples in
