

Informant: Horton Homeratha, Oto

Interviewed by: Boyce Timmons, 3-8-68

Transcribed by: Linda Butler

Proofread by: Nona Kerr

BRIEF INTRODUCTION

(I'm at Horton Homeratha's house, at Red Rock, Oklahoma, and this is March 8, 1968 and we're just going to do some visiting here about different things. Whatever we want to talk about we'll just put on this tape and see what comes out. Not anything in particular, but I would like to ask Horton some questions here first, just to kind of get a little background. Horton, were you born here at this home place?)

No, I was born down here on Red Rock Creek east of here about a mile.

(In a house?)

Yes.

(When were you born? What year?)

June 9, 1909.

(Yeah, you're almost as old as I am.)

Yeah, almost.

(What was your father's name?)

Horton Homeratha, Sr.

(And your mother?)

Lizzy.

(What was her maiden name?)

Luebado.

(Leubado?).

Yeah.

HOW DO WE DETERMINE THE INDIAN WAY

(We were talking a little bit a few minutes ago about Indian way of doing things and of course I hear this, and you do too, at a lot of these Indian