

let them know, who might feed you, along the way. Was there any particular reason behind that or--?)

No, I guess it was that's the way they go by me telling them. I guess that only reason. Well somebody goes by home and they give them something to eat, and they spend the night, the day and night when they going to have that.

Mrs. Osborne: And too, it might have been like they said, when they receive them, doctors receive and when these two--he's going to give things away to the people, it may be that these folks that Fed, Grant, you know, why they tell him, maybe they give to them you know. It could be that.

That's about the last time I ever went that way.

Mrs. Osborne: Cause they told him come and report to us who fed you. So I imagine that's what it was.

That's about the last time. And then from then on it get away from us you see.

Mrs. Osborne: Yeah, that's a long time in preparing that dry meat. It took about 4 or 5 days to dry, Ramona.

Twenty-two weeks of camp.

Mrs. Osborne: I mean to dry that meat. The next day they have to hang them up again.

Stack 'em up.

GRANT IS THE LAST ONE OF THE INDIAN DOCTORS

(Grant, are there any other men that are living today besides yourself who were either Indian doctors, or who were preparing to be doctors?)

No, I don't know, I don't think. There might be a few but I don't know.

Mrs. Osborne: No there ain't any that took part in it.

No, no, I'm the last one.

Mrs. Osborne: Yeah, there ain't no more.

I had to be there with Old Man See Good and his father, and George Shooter and Old Man George Esau and all of them. Young Buffalo, Frank Leader, Old Man See-Good, his father.
