

tipi meetings all the time.

(Is this Andy?)

Yeah. And the other day he came here one morning and Joey was away and I was talking to him and I said, "Son, I always watch you all these years, this long, and you always been a good boy. You don't have nothing to say. You always treat everybody like right. You sure like to help other peoples when they get hard-up. I notice everytime I go to town there always be someone at your house and they always ask for help and o.k., if that was your last dollar you would give it to them. I seen that done many times when I go to your house." He says, "Yeah sure. I like to help people. I know how it feels to be hard-up." I said, "How would you like for me to give you all my medicine. After years come you be older I be gone, then you have this medicine that you could take up and use it."

I told him that. I said, "You got kids. Sometimes it comes to your kids get sick and you don't know what to do. And when the doctor give them up you just turn over to this one. Get them well right now." He said, "I'll think about it." I think I just give it to him. Let him use it. Teach him how to use it and he could understand all the way it goes and everything. I think he'll--he learns quick and he's a good hearted boy, you know. He's a nice boy. He don't have nothing to say about nobody. But this other boys is crazy, you know. ((Her youngest son))

(If Andy says he'll take it, will you be able to give him power too?)

Yeah.;

(How do you do that? I can see how you could teach somebody the medicines, but how do they get power?)

I have to set up with him four nights and we pray and he'll be singing and then on fourth morning we get up and go outside before its daylight. Just about that time and I'll have to sing then and when I sing ((REFERS TO SINGING HER MEDICINE SONG)) I could hav e--feel the spirit or someting. Just come over he and I just turn it over to him. Then I have to cedar him and fan him with that feathers. Four times, I got to run that feather through his mouth like that four times. And then he'll have it then.
