

(What kind of birds could they catch to eat--turkeys?)

Some used to go down to the river and shoot them wild turkeys.

(With bow and arrow or a gun?)

Gun.

(Did they ever use any kind of traps or snares to catch animals with?)

I don't know.

(Going back to when you were taking care of your nephew--when you went home to take care of him--did you raise him?)

Yeah, I raised him. He was already about twenty-one when he passed away. He had pneumonia.

ANNIE'S MARRIAGE AND EARLY MARRIED LIFE

(Did his father ever remarry?)

Yeah, he remarried, but he wouldn't go and stay with him. He was used to me.

(When did you meet your husband?)

I told you, I never meet him no where.

(I forgot. Could you tell me how you happened to get married to him?)

Oh, my. (pause)

(Was he older than you?)

Yeah, lots older.

(How did he happen to pick you for his wife?)

I don't know.

(Were you real good at cooking or something?)

He had a boy and he lost his wife. I guess that's why he had to get him a wife--to take care of his boy.

(How old was his boy?)

He was about seven years old.

(Did you raise him, too?)

Yeah.

(Could you tell me any more about how your husband asked you--did he ask you or did he ask your parents--?)

Oh, his folks--his mother--had to ask my folks. So my folks were willing to let me get married and that's how we got married.

(Did you know anything about it before they came and asked you?)
