

don't feel it. I'm going to eat." I said, "Are you going to take this other one?" She said, "Yeah, I'll take it at bedtime." It was about six o'clock. I said, "you better rest a while. Let your swelling on your jaw go down, and maybe tonight you'll take this other one." She did. Next morning she didn't have no toothache.

(Have you ever heard of other people using it for toothache, too?)

Oh, yeah. Lots of times. Lots of people use it. Yeah

(What other sickness or illness is peyote good for?)

It's cured tuberculars.

(Could you tell me any more about that?)

Well, I know of two cases--I think I already mentioned it to you--this old man, Sage, out here--coughed and sputum--and after the old man started using peyote--He was an old user of it but he got old and he couldn't go in peyote (meetings), but he got down with T.B. and he started using it. He lived to be an old man. And a fellow over here by Calumet by the name of Skunk Neck--I mentioned that to you--he got cured by peyote. He was big and stout when he got old. Of course he died, but he was normal, and didn't have no hoarse voice. It didn't affect his lungs. (his illness).

(Well, then it seems like sometimes people use it themselves to doctor and sometimes they get it from a peyote doctor--)

Yeah. But most of them use it themselves. I know when they had that flu in 1918, a lot of people would take the flu one day, and the next day they'd die. All around the country. And I went to Fort Sill one time there in November--No--I think it was February--and we drove up to Fort Sill there at this rail station. There were a lot boxes out. I said, "What's those boxes for?" We stopped there and we asked the Gate Man at Fort Sill, "What's all those boxes over there?" "Soldiers, being shipped home when they
