

The white man he's out to get the Indian, from the beginning as far as that goes. I'll tell you that. Maybe pretend to be friend to the Indian. We know that some way they going to try to beat them out of a buck. The white man he's born with that idea, I don't know how. They still that way here in Osage county. They discriminate against the Indians in some places, some instances. Now in Ponca City they don't want Indian in some restaurants or some of their stores. That goes here too. In some places the colored man is treated better than the Indian. Some places, just like it was up there in Sheridan, Wyoming. Had signs: No Indians or dogs allowed. Restaurants, stores, things like that. They didn't like all Indians, just 'cause a few Indians caused it, just a few Indians caused it, got drunk, winos. We have different tribes than we have in Pawhuska. Everybody just see one Indian drunk well, they think all Indians are that way. See that's the sore that we have among the Indians. Just that one Indian can ruin for the next thousand Indians that come along. Well, they think all Indians are that way. Just like they won't hire Indians to work, you know, the white man won't. Well, he gets his first pay check he's not going to come back Monday morning. He makes no effort to call in or say I'm sick, I'm going to be a little late. He got his pay check. The job's there, it's got to be done. No Indian can go to hire out on a job well stay with it. Till they fire you or till they tell you the job's terminated or till you finished your job. We have to set an example for the generations to come. The colored man, he's making himself known now. Getting to be in public eye. Indian not there yet. There was a time the colored man he can't go in the cafe. He can't go in the Manhattan cafe, sit up front with everybody else. He can't do it he has to go in the back. This place is right here in Oklahoma, see, that's the colored man. He had no rights. He had no public rights, public rights, public building such as cafes or corner drugstores, counter there. Corner drugstore sit at the.
