

May won a foot race one time. It was when - let's see - it was when Aunt Julia got married - when she married Charles Brave. She got a horse. She was so proud of it. She was small, too. They had her in - to get - were on both sides. We were on Bacon Rind's side and on Brave's side, too. She was mostly on the Brave's side. And I was on the Bacon Rind's side. So they wanted her to run for the bride, you know. She won. She won a horse. I was so surprised, you know, when they said she was the first one there, to the bride. She was small too, you know. Just big enough to know how to run. Yes, I remember that so well. (laughter)

(Did people go and camp at the - )

Oh yes. Well, now let me see. We were in on the Brave and Bacon Rind wedding. We were in on both sides of it. Clara May was on the Brave side. I was on the Bacon Rind side. And they camped out there, you know, the boy's side. And the same way about Lorena when she was married. We stay where Aunt Lillie is living; is where we all lived, you know, and the boys plant the camp right along there where Henry Lookout and Eddie Red Eagle's place is. There was an old house there. That about where the Pryor family camped. Over when they was buying Lorena. See, Lorena was married to one of the Pryor boys. That's Julie Ann's daddy, you know. She said it was in 1930, didn't she say? Was it her or was it Mary Rose?

(No. It was Lester.)

I went to their wedding in the church. They were married in the church just after their Indian weddin' - they took 'em right on over there and had a church weddin'. ((Irrevelant sentence))...racing to see who gets to the bride first. And whoever gets there first, why, they win something - they get a prize. Just like I said with all those horses, you know. Maybe blankets or somethin', I don't know. Clara May got a horse for winning.
