

(Give them a chance then to talk about their complaints and wants I guess?)

Yeah. I don't remember what they talk about, but I think that's what they talk about. They talk about money, and some of them got money and some didn't.

(And I guess they had dinner on the ground too?)

Yeah. Everybody eat the beef they kill.

(And then they have Indian singing, I guess?)

Yeah. They have three or four swings, I forget how many stands they have. Have a big (work not clear) time. (Sentence not clear.)

SEMINARY FOR NEGROES

(Well the Negro Seminary, that was established by the Cherokee Nation, wasn't it?)

Uh-huh.

(For the colored people, and it was in existence then when the male and female seminaries were going too. And I guess it was a pretty good place there for the education for colored children.)

INDIAN LAW AND SHERIFF

Yeah. You know there was fellow killed him one night. They had plenty lawless Indians, long time ago. They had plenty -- (rest not clear)

(Was it Cherokee laws?)

Yeah.

(Cherokee marshals.)

Yeah, they had, course they follow the sheriff and Cherokee laws and United States marshal and I thought they went in bunches too. Yes, I remember them.

(Well, they kept everybody under control I guess, as best they could.)

As best they could.

(They had a lot of territory to cover though.)

They sure did.
