

(What did they give you?)

Jenny: Well, her son went and gave me about $5.

(Do you ask for certain things, or do they just give you?)

Jenny: No, I didn't ask for--because, I don't know, I just wanted to help her, you know, and I did. But the medicine man, my father, when he's going to doctor, there's four things you have to give him no matter if you don't give him anything--just so he gets these four things. And they're small. That's a black handkerchief, a buckskin--just a piece of buckskin, and then an eagle feather and this one is some kind of, I don't know how you'd call it--paint. It's a red paint.. Four.

Cecil: You have to give four away.

Jenny: And have them ready before the doctors. When the doctors, he use them.

Cecil: Then a smoke.

Jenny: Yeah, when you going to--when you want him to doctor somebody, you have to give him smoke before you tell him. While he's smoking, you tell him about it.

(I'm going to ask you about him and get you to tell me a little bit more about that later.)

Jenny: Yeah.

Cecil: They's lots of witches been going on. Are we all right on that medicine man?

(Yeah, that's fine.)

WITCH DOCTORS HELD IN LOW ESTEEM BY THE INDIANS

Cecil: There's lots of witching been going on way back there before the country opened. And there's lots of young men that goes out, out in the mountains to get blessings for what they want. Sometimes,
