

(You said the Cheyennes gave the Kiowas the Ohomo?)

Yeah. And I don't know where them crazy Cheyennes got hold of that Ohomo! (He laughs.)

(Did you Kiowas have to pay them some horses?)

Yeah. He lets you join the Ohomo Dance and you have to give him a horse.

(When did you join?)

Long time ago.

MORE ON THE HORSE TASSEL COMPANY

(Well, going back to this Horse Tassel Company, did they have any kind of officers or leaders?)

Oh, they have a leader. They have a big chief--Big shot!

He's got a say-so. Anything they talk about, he's got to go and see to it. You understand?

(Yeah. Do you remember what the name of their leader was when you joined it?)

Yeah. White Buffalo.

(Did they have any other kind of officers?)

White Old Buffalo and Red Buffalo.

(What was Red Buffalo? What was his position?)

Well, Red Buffalo is just Red Buffalo, that's all. (Laughter.)

We don't know whether the buffalo's red--we don't know.

(Well, is this Red Buffalo, is that the name of a man?)

Yeah. That's the name of a man.

(Was he an officer in this company?)

Yeah.

(What was his position?)

Well, he belong in that company. Whenever they call him, he goes. He go see about it. This company, if they want to raise something to eat, then they got this Red Buffalo, he's got
