

TOWNS OF WHITE OAK AND CATALE

(Well what was White Oak like when you first remember it?)

Well it's not as big as it was--as it is now. But it was just a small place.

(Just a train stopped there, and a store.)

Yeah probably a store.)

(Yeah. Well it's not very big now. Though is it?)

No. You take Catale up here. It used to be a pretty good business up there too.

(Well --was it. People lived right around there too. In that little town didn't they?)

Yes.

(Uh--yes there were several houses around there.)

Uh-huh. You see there was guy owned a store up there and he sold wagons and buggies and harness. Cheaper than these guys down here did.

(Yeah uh-huh)

That brought in a lot of business.

GUNS IN EARLY DAYS

(Why sure. When you was a young fellow what kind of gun did you have in those days?)

Oh, twenty-two mostly.

(Yeah)

They had some pop guns.

(You had the shot gun too.)

Yeah.

(Old black powder.)

Yes.

(The old black powder shells. Yeah that was long long time ago.)

That'll make your arm sore.
