

(Well, my goodness.)

He raised all his stuff, you know. Didn't take money to live, much that day.

(Not, it didn't.)

Had their own stuff. I know one time he had a little over three hundred head of cattle. Course lived on free range, you know.

(Well, he was quite a farmer and rancher then, wasn't he?)

Oh, yeah, he was. Just had a little place, and a barn there. Just raised corn you know.

(Yes.)

He just run his cattle on stalk field, you know. Didn't have to feed much in the winter.

(Uh-huh)

Yeah. (static) Lived up there you know.

(Yes sir.)

Joe one of the boys runs that filling station there where--

(End of Side B -----T-355):