

was he there?)

Yes, he was there.

(You remember him, don't you?)

I remember him.

(And you recall who else might have been there that you can remember? Uh, just like my dad's brothers, were they all, were they all there? Do you remember any of his brothers being there? Edgar, Jim and Roy or was it George and Jim. Were they there?)

Well they were there but I...I don't think they took part in the meeting at that time. I don't remember. It was much less the older ones.

(Oh, I see. And that, that was around the middle of the 1920's that I recall.

That I remember. That I was quite small at the time. And uh this uh well I remember too out there. Wasn't that those white people out there called Callahan. Was they out there?)

Yeah. They were there later I believe.

(They was later huh?)

At the time I remember this woman was there. I could remember at that time, she's here in Hominy. Her names uh Mrs. Bircher, she was one of the old timers.

(Oh, I see, was that Joe Bircher's wife.)

Uh-huh.

THERE WERE TRIBES BESIDES OSAGE

(Oh. And you would say at that time that there were no other tribes that came around were they going in with the Osages then?)

I imagine. They did. Different tribes. That come.

(I don't remember any of them. Seems like they was all Osages to me but there was a lot of them for dinner. I remember where they had the dinner. And who generally talked at the dinner, I remember someone who really talked a long time and I was sure..)
