

You know tha's an old town.

(Yeah. Locust Grove was it a new town?)

Yeah, it was a new town.

(Yeah. And Rose, did they have a store at Rose? Early time?)

They started one time. It all went down.

(Yeah)

They used to have about five or six stores right in a row at one time. Now there ain't but one.

(Yeah. Just one.)

The people (not clear).

(Hum)

Yeah. You know Pryor, I mean uh--Vinita, the old town, you couldn't tell its an old town though. They building up--

(No, yeah.)

Yeah. I reckon they have. It's been a long time sinch I've been there.

Whole lot of change then. Pryor, its not very old town.

(Hum)

SALT WATER WELL IN MIDDLE OF MAINSTREET OF PRYOR

They stuck, they stuck some kind of old, they drill a well right there in, right in middle of the street one time at Pryor.

(Well)

So I don't know what crossing they did now. One going this a way crossing, on the main street you know.

(Yeah)

Or middle of the line. Right on main street.

(Hum)

And the substance I don't know what it was. It must have been salt water or something, or gas or something. They didn't know which it was. And uh--
