

(Your allotment joined your mother's?)

Yeah--west. Well, there's four quarters. We all had-- See, my sister's on the south side. She had a quarter. My mother's and my place there. And Clarence Star's on the south side of my place. See, they're right there in one section. I was on the northwest corner. South of me was Clarence Star. My sister's was back east of Clarence Star--the southeast corner, and my mother's--the place I got now--is northeast quarter. That's right east of me.

SECTION OF LAND NEAR BROXTON

(Did they ever tell you why your dad happened to select his over there by the Washita River?)

No, they didn't.

(At the time that they were allotted, your mother and father were already married, weren't they?)
