

was born, we went by this uncle of mine, my father's brother-in-law. Uncle Bill Sullivan. And he was born in '95. And we went to visit them, and we hadn't named him yet. And Uncle Bill said, "Well, I know what you're going to call him. You're going to call him Bob Ross." And he went by that name.

(Son: They lived right up there where--the place where--Tahlequah.)

What?

(Son: The place where they lived.)

Where Uncle Bill lived?

(Son: Yeah.)

Oh, one of them used to be down in that part of the country. And that was old Ned Christie.

(Ned Christie was one of them.)

And Blue Foreman. Oh, that Blue Foreman!

(Blue Foreman. Now I haven't heard about him.)

Blue Foreman, he grew up out there at Tahlequah.

(Son: What's that guy's--them outlaw's name. That man used to be so onery as not a (not clear) over there at (not clear).)

Jim Davis.

(Jim Davis.)

Kenny Davis.

(Oh, Kenny Davis.)

KENNY DAVIS WAS AN OUTLAW - OTHER OUTLAWS AND INCIDENTS

He was from down there. He was an outlaw too. Uncle Manuel's told me. One time he said "If I catch you with him I'm gonna shoot." And one time we was out to Uncle Manuel's--he lived out there close to Barnard. And the girls went to school at the Seminary. And we'd have a vacation trip. And we'd go out to the home. You know. We went to a singing. (Not clear) We was in Barton's home. Susie, oh what is her--she's been married two or
