

different. As Mormon people--of course, they didn't have anything up to date. It was just--everything was just old. Old fashioned--everything. It musta been fall of the year when we were there. (There was talking in background. She was being asked what time of the year.)

(Lloyd was born in August it was probably in the fall. How was the weather down there? Was it kinda cool? Was there mountains?)

It was cool. I 'magine there was mountains. But there was no mountains where we was. There was mountains way back.

WHILE THERE, THEY LIVED AMONG MORMONS

(You could see the mountains from where you were? From this settlement--now what consisted of this settlement? Were there very many Mormons there?)

Yes. There's quite a few there. It was a settlement--Mormon settlement.

(Would you say, ten families? Twenty families?)

I don't remember. There must a been--

(How many buildings do you remember down there?)

There wasn't too many buildings. I remember--I remember we was in this one home where we stayed all night--I think it was a two story house.

(What were these houses made of--adobe?)

I believe it was a stone house.

(Stone house. Now what sort of person was this leader--this Mormon leader that you stayed with. What sort of person was he? What was his first name?)

Well, I don't know whether he was a leader or, I know he was a Mormon. Of course, I didn't--my husband at that time and Mr. Wah-hae-she, they used to talk about what it was and I didn't pay much 'ention at that time. But we were there, as I remember, this Mormon home. We stayed all night there, and later, why, they got us another house. So, we stayed to this other house and it was a stone building. We had to make out with just about with what we can--what we already have. We even had to cook on the fireplace. We
