

(This is January 1, 1969. I am now in the home of my mother, Mrs. Marie Maker, and we are now looking over--reminiscing over some old pictures that she has, at this time. Hve you found any old ones that--?)

Here's some old ones, but I don't know--I don't know--I believe I just know one. Old pictures. You know, it's too bad they don't put names on. This is Old Man Shenkey. Long time ago, they said just the very special ones drink whiskey. Just the "High-Ups" drink whiskey. That's what I was told. Just anybody couldn't drink it, long time ago. So, here's some old men. See they've got table made and I think that look like a gun on there too. They're drinking in there. I think there's a glass of--glass of-- Oh, that man--I see that man. I never did see that one. He's pouring whiskey, I believe. This is And--Andrew Big Horse (1), I believe and Victor Griffin. (Which one is Andrew Big Horse? This middle one?)

This one right here. You can tell that's him. And here's Allison Webb and Mr. Penn (3). What was his name?

(Albert?)

Albert Penn (3 & 38). And here's some old pictures of women way back there. This lady we called Annie Sanford (2). Did they ever hear of her? Here's one of Black Dog--Black Dog's wife (48). And this is--this is Kate Barker here (no picture). And this here--I know who she is, but I can't call her husband's name. You want me to read just read the--

(Just what you remember of 'em, you know.)

Well, this here--this is another picture of Mrs.--she's Wahdonskas (?) wife. And this New waheneh's daughter (no pictures), I believe. What was her name? I don't remember her name.
