

Jenny: Yeah right over there. And then the old people who used to farm this, was our grandparents.

(Uh-huh)

Jenny: He was born in that house that they tore down.

(Uh-huh)

The Angels farm. All this right in here belongs to the Angels and across the track belonged to the Flints.

(Uh-huhm)

Where George More lives is where L. D. Flint moved when he went on this side of the track.

(Uh-huh. Well did Ogeechee have a school here in those early days?)

Jenny: The school house that they had was right over here west of where Miss Spillman lived, wasn't it?

Flint: Hum?

Jenny: Your school house that you had was right here west of Miss Spillman's. Was that about where---

Mr. Flint: School house?

Yes.

Mr. Flint: It was right over, over Miss Stillman's. This is the main road up the (words not clear) I guess.

Uh-huh.

Jenny: And John Chandler was your school teacher?

Mr. Flint: Who?

Jenny: John Chandler was your school teacher?

Mr. Flint: Well we had lots of school teacher. (sentence not clear)

(Uh-- what did they call that school?)

Jenny: What did you call your school? Prairie City?
