

Yonder, you know.

(Uh-huh)

Tore both them houses all to pieces.

(Well)

John Brown and Tom Brown had them built. They's the one that had the (not clear).

(Yeah. About 1897 when that cyclone came through. Clear out everything.)

Oh lord just tore up everything.

(Hum)

Anything that it hit. It just tore it up.

(Yeah).

Tore old man McConliss's big house down. It was two story, just whipped it like that.

KETCHUM FAMILIES

(Hum -- (not clear). I know there was some log houses.)

When we come here. We rented George Davis's place.

(Uh-huh)

Place. Right over here.

(Uh-huh)

Two miles. And it was a box house.

(Yeah)

Lumber--rough lumber. I got some upstairs. That's the way they was all built then.

(Yeah)

Once in a while you find one on the on top of the hill. Paul Ketchum build 'em like that.

(Uh-huh)
