

the brief case containing the buffalo medicine into the room. Eugenia, says the first container brought in is not the right one. Directs them to get another one.)

Here's a buffalo hide. (Showing me something from the case) Grandma's buffalo hide.

(Oh, that's wonderful.)

I always don't want to tell it. But you got to pay me, too.

(Yeah, I'll pay you.)

This costs lots of money! This is it (taking things out of the case). (A bell jangles. She rings the bell. Talks Kiowa with Mrs. McDaniels and takes more things out. She takes out a rattle made of buffalo tail with hoof tips, and other things attached and shakes it in my face. The rattle of the hoof tips is audible on the tape.)

Medicine. You won't get sick!

(Thank you.)

Say--(speaks in Kiowa to Mrs. McDaniels)

(Mrs. McDaniels: That's all you got.)

I always watch it close.

(Mrs. McDaniels: This one came off from that--)

This is buffalo tail. When you get wounded, the medicine, you eat that.

(Speaks in Kiowa. Searches for something else.) See, these feathers goes with it.

(Mrs. McDaniels: Here's some more.)

(Eugenia talks Kiowa) Right there, there's some of it--buffalo tails.

(Speaks Kiowa to Mrs. McDaniels)

(Mrs. McDaniels: Um-hum. Here's the one, too.)
