

Of course in the olden days there were all kinds of people. Some were brave when they were in a gang, and would delight in beating up some poor fellow. Alvin Jarvis, Cotton Eye Smith, and John Gomer were of this less honorable type. But get one of them alone and you could run him to death before you caught him.