

(That went up there when I was there. Are there any of the LongBones left now around here?)

Well, let's see, down around Dewey.

(Around Dewey.)

Yeah, It's down there.

(I was wondering about the older ones.)

All the older ones are all dead.

(Oh, yes.)

There's a couple of older ones -- one named Jack and then there's one, Leonard.

(Leonard is the one that I know.)

Yeah. Now he lives there at Dewey. Then there's, oh what's his name, they call him Judge, Warren. Warren, he lives there in Dewey.

(Yeah, Judge Warren.)

Yeah, Warren. They call him, Judge.

(Yeah.)

Now Ray, he was pretty well educated.

(Yes, he was.)

West to college, yeah. He was pretty well educated, Ray was. Of course, he never used it. Used his educations after he got it, going in the army. When he was in the army, he was secretary, I believe. I don't know what they called him. They called him, something like a secretary to some general, or something. That's all he done. He, of course, operated a typewriter. Be a secretary. He kept books, anything like that.

CHURCH - MEETING PLACE

(Not clear) over on the river, west of, you know where I told you where the Rocky Ford school was. It's right close to it. There's a church there,
