

were some of the first ones that come here I guess.)

Yeah.

(How about the Dick. Was that a big family?)

Well there was--if they were all related to one another, it would be a big family.

(Yeah.)

But there's different ones you that that--and they're not no kin. I don't think.

(Yeah. And Daughtery's there was quite a few of them wasn't there?)

Daughtery?

(Yeah.)

Yes. Yeah. There were quite a few of them.

(And let's see that George Greenfeather. Was he a Shawnee or Delaware?)

He was Shawnee.

(He was?)

Uh-huh. Yeah that's the old fellow you was talking about down there close to Okoe. You was talking about John Greenfeather. George Greenfeather's dad.

(Well. Rose Daughtery--where did she live?)

She lived down there. Where we was talking about. Just old cemetery down there you know.

(Yeah.)

That's where she lived.

(Was that her old home place?)

No that wasn't her home place. She bought that I think.

(Then that's where she lived.)

Yeah.

(Well now she's dead isn't she? Where was she buried, Buddy?)
