

See back there, everything was taken away from them.

(That's right most of them did come here without anything.)

Yes. Didn't have a thing to start on.

(Uh-huh)

That's about the only place. There's two places I'd like to go if I were able. I'd like to go back to the old home place. And I'd like to go back and see how some of the other people live back there. And I'd like to go to (not clear). But those two places now I'd like to see. Its the same old place. And they promised to get me some pictures of it before they tore it down to rebuilt it. But I haven't been able to get them.

(And Cy Ward's place was built by your grandfather?)

That's where my family lived. They didn't originate there, but when he came from Georgia as I said, he went to Texas, Sweetwater, Texas. Then he came to Arkansas then across and then finally settled down here. And that's where he was living when he, I think he was living with my mother when he died.

I don't know what happened to that first one, great-grandfather. (name not clear) said he's the daddy of all our bunch. My aunt had pictures of some of those older people, but I don't.

(No, those folks that traveled through the country back over hundred of years ago, they were hearty people. They would have to be.)

Yes, but you know, their life was short span. A man could be forty or fifty years and that was old. Now you can be eighty or ninety and not be old.

But you have to keep your head.

(Yeah, they lived a short life but they lived a whole lot during that short time. So many things happened and--)

They couldn't make it now.

(No, they couldn't do it now.)
